

Why UniPhi Tuning Forks are the best quality in the world!

- Our tuning forks are made in the USA by one of the two professional manufacturers of aluminum alloy tuning forks. They are known for their high-quality tuning forks tuned to the closest accuracy physically possible (within .00Hz).
- The best machinery available was purchased and tuning procedures were changed to meet my exacting standards.
- Temperature control is key in accuracy, and procedures have been honed so that the forks are optimally tuned. In the summer especially, if the temperature cannot be controlled to the perfect temperature for the best accuracy, they will not tune forks on that day.
- Special employees make forks just for my supplier. They have more training and experience, so that our forks are as expertly made and tuned as perfectly as they can be.
- Each fork is individually hand-tuned using our state-of-the-art equipment.
- Each fork is individually hand-tested and re-tested a second time to ensure frequency accuracy.
- We guarantee accuracy to + or - .25%, which is the best that any manufacturer can guarantee. Almost always the accuracy is even better than that. We believe because of the reasons listed above, our forks are the most accurate available.
- When comparing the same frequency fork with other manufacturers, our fork's sustained ring time is equal or better.
- Our aluminium alloy material is a little harder and therefore, more durable and less likely to get nicked over time.
- We make longer handles for ease of holding the Tuning Forks. We did this without raising prices.
- My supplier has been selling high-quality tuning forks since 2000, therefore they are seasoned veterans.
- I have been a practitioner of Sound Healing Therapy since 2001 and I use Tuning Forks in my practice. I only sell what I use in my practice or use personally, and I have a long history and understanding what the forks can do. I also teach how to use the Tuning Forks for healing. In addition, I have developed unique Tuning Forks Sets based on my study, research and experience. Read about my credentials here.

Divine harmonious vibrations to you all!

Ashera Hart

UniPhi with Sound

www.AsheraHart.net

Transformation through the power of sound